Note: This version's features are optimized for servers and network environments in designated regions to ensure the best experience for users within supported areas. Functionality may be limited in unsupported regions due to network latency or service compatibility issues (e.g., slower AI responses). For optimal performance, use within supported regions.

Appearance & Button Guide:

To ensure safety and prevent risks (e.g., short circuits or accidental activation), all functions are disabled during charging.

—Charging Animation: A light strip animation shows charging status. The number of lit ring lights indicates battery level (all lights on = fully charged).

—Real-Time Monitoring: Check exact battery percentage via the INFUNITY app.

—Auto Dimming: The light strip turns off after a period (normal design). Press any button to wake it and check status.

—Auto Protection: Charging stops automatically when fully charged.
